THE LEATHER INSTITUTE GAINS FAA CERTIFICATE

News / Business aviation

The Leather Institute has been awarded the Federal Aviation Authority Air Agency certificate.

The FAA certification allows the company to offer return to service for work done at their repair station and work done in the field with the D100 designation.

The company has been refurbishing leather interiors for 15 years and has worked with many OEMs as well fractional and charter companies.

The Leather Institute, the leader in providing training, products and services for aircraft interiors.

The company has global presence in Asia, Europe, North and South America and the Middle East.

The Leather Institute has its corporate headquarters in Red Bank, New Jersey.

01 SEPTEMBER 2015

SOURCE: CORPORATEJETINVESTOR
ARTICLE LINK:
https://mfa.50skyshades.com/news/airlines/the-leather-institute-gains-faa-certificate

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.