

COMMUTEAIR SIGNS PART EXCHANGE PLUS PROGRAM CONTRACT WITH EMBRAER FOR INVENTORY MANAGEMENT AND REPAIR SERVICES

News / Airlines, Maintenance / Trainings

CommuteAir and Embraer have expanded their cooperation by entering into a contract for the Exchange Plus Program to support CommuteAir's E-Jet fleet. Through the program, CommuteAir will be able to access tailored inventory management and repair services from Embraer's worldwide supply chain.

Lon Ziegler, CommuteAir's Vice President of Technical Operations commented: "CommuteAir is excited to build on its existing partnership with Embraer for our ERJ145 aircraft to now include parts inventory and repair support for our E-Jet aircraft. Embraer will help ensure we have a ready supply of parts to support our charter operations using the 76-seat E170 aircraft."

Carlos Naufel, President and CEO, Embraer Services & Support said: "We are very pleased to partner with CommuteAir to offer the Exchange Plus Program for supporting its E-Jet operation."

Embraer has a long-term relationship with the company and our goal is to offer the best-in-class support that makes the difference on our customer's operations."

Exchange Plus Program is an integrated solution for customers seeking efficiency and cost-effective management of repairable components. With tailored inventory management and comprehensive repair services, customers can optimize their operations while minimizing downtime and associated costs. CommuteAir and Embraer have already partnered on rotatable and expendable parts support for the ERJ145 fleet through the Pool and Inventory Planning programs.
